

Do you get regular medicines?

Save time and help your GP practice, your pharmacy and the NHS by using electronic repeat dispensing.

Your doctor will send a series of repeat prescriptions to your pharmacy in one go, so there's no need for you to order them each time.

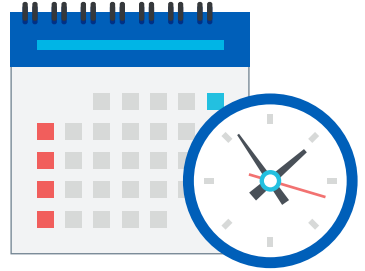

Visit www.nhsbsa.nhs.uk/eprescriptions or ask your doctor or pharmacist for more information.

How electronic repeat dispensing can help you and the NHS

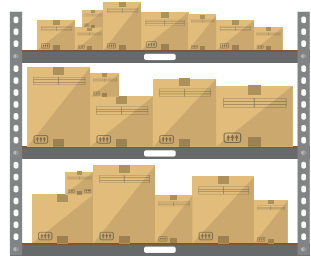

Collecting prescriptions from your pharmacy without having to order them from your doctor saves time for you

Time saved in practices means more appointments available for patients

Electronic prescribing is easier for the NHS to manage so that medicine use stays safe, effective and efficient

Processing fewer paper prescriptions could save the NHS £millions each year

Electronic repeat dispensing is a reliable, secure and confidential NHS service. Unlike paper prescriptions, electronic prescriptions can't get lost between the doctor and the pharmacy.
